MRS. HERBERT SURE PRINCE KUNG LEADS

Gives High Praise to Peke She Selected as Best at Plaza Show.

ADMIRES HIS DIGNITY

Buccess describes in one word the sixth annual show of the Pekingese Club America held in the ballroom at the Hotel Plaza on Monday. In the amity which prevailed, number of entries, quality of the exhibits and attendance the ity of the exhibits and attendance the show established a record and everything went off with a smoothness which has been lacking at many recent shows.

The judge, Mrs. Herbert of England, won the admiration of the ringsiders by her systematic work and all were of the opinion that the affair was the best judged show in the history of this club. Although there were many upsets and newcomers went ever winners of the past the awards were received with favor and few criticisms were heard. favor and few criticisms were heard.

Mrs. Herbert is typical of the British school of judging. She knows just what she is looking for and finds it without wasting any time, yet she gives each dog a thorough examination and when she arrives at her decisions there is no wavering, but the ribbons are handed out with a finality that shows she has thoroughly made up her mind as to the best. This trait is appreciated by winners and losers alike, for there is no place in dogdom for the doubting. Thomas sort of judge. He who hesi-tates is lost, in the judging ring, if he seeks the respect of the exhibitors and ingsiders.

It will be interesting to all breeders to know just what Mrs. Herbert thinks of the different specimens brought be-fore her, and when interviewed she showed a remarkably retentive memory, clearly calling to mind the various ex-hibits and telling how they shaped up

For the winning dog, Mrs. M. M. Van Beuren's France Kung of Alderbourne, which won a leg on the J. P. Morgantrophy by being adjudged best dog of either sex in the show, the British woman had nothing but praise. She said that she was of the firm belief that he did not have a peer among the dogs brought before her, and that in thinking over the awards which she had made she which over $4,000 is said to have changed did not hesitate to say that no mistake was made when she put him to the top. In describing the dog she spoke of his wonderful head, beautiful eyes, magnificent coat, compact body (without being too short which can be carried to an extreme in a Pekingeseb, and above everything, of his demeanor in the ring and how he carried himself with a dignity which is essential to the breed.

Mrs. Herbert points out the fact that the Pekingese was the royal dog of the production of the last wound one-half year old specimen which has done considerable winning, including the special for best of his breed at the last Montreal show; the latthe Pekingese was the royal dog of China for centuries and that they should have a dignified carriage, which is different from the anthes and perky smartness seen in a Pomeranian. Prince Kung she thought a striking example of a dog which hears himself with dignity, and ended by saying that he is the type favored in Eugland and that when he was exhibited there before coming to this country he defeated all of the best dogs owned in that country and won at the largest shows.

The reserve winning dog, Nowata Pekingese was the royal dog of breed at the last Montreal show; the lat-

The puppy bitch winner, Ta Te of Downshire, owned by Mrs. W. H. Scott, Jr., Mrs. Herbert thinks also will develop into a real good type of bitch.

In summing up Mrs. Herbert said that the breed was improving over here and that many of the dogs were exceptional. In bitches, however, there seems room. In bitches, however, there seems room general average is not what it should be.

To get back to the show itself. As usual, the affair was one of the largest ttended specialty fixtures ever seen here. The decorations were most elab-orate and most of the exhibits were caged in tastily decorated cages with Oriental designs forming the back-

Mrs. Herbert, the judge, had a number of fine specimens entered for ex-hibition only, several of which were sleeve specimens of grand type and with profuse coats. The dogs reposed on pillows of Oriental design and the whole exhibit was one of the handsomest seen.

Scott Purchases Nabobette.

Robert A. Scott of New York has added another fine bitch to his kennel of French buildogs. His latest purchase is Nabobette, a daughter of champion Noswal Nabob, which won first in the puppy class at the specialty show of the French Buildog Club of New England, held last fall in Boston. She is said to resemble her sire to a marked degree in type and will prove a valuable acquisition to Mr. Scott's fine collection of French buildogs.
